

Check out this towel?

A few years ago, a Miami artist, Misael Soto, created this giant beach towel.

In his description of his project he said,

"Visitors and passersby are welcome and encouraged to occupy and enjoy the towel as I hope to subvert the way beach-goers claim their temporary real estate on the beach."

ACT 1: Check out these images. What questions come to mind, if any?

As a class, decide what questions you want to answer.

Write what you are going to try finding out here:

Make your best guess or estimate to the question.

What information would be useful? What information do we have?

Act II: Below are some more images of the towel.

Do your best to answer the class question. Show your work, answer, and reasoning.

Act III: The reveal

The actual answer is:

My original estimate was:

The title of this lesson could be:

Other possible questions to explore: