

Mother's Day Breakfast

My mom will be so surprised.

I'm going to wake up early and bring her breakfast in bed.

When do I have to wake up? My mom is usually awake before I am.

1. About what time does your mom wake up?

I think she would like orange juice, scrambled eggs, biscuits, and hot coffee. I'll add some flowers from outside and fruit to make it look fancy. Of course I want the hot food to all be hot when I serve her.

2. What should I put on the tray at any time and what do I have to time just right?

3. Figure out how long each of the hot items will take to be ready.
(I'm not going to make the biscuits from scratch. Pillsbury makes refrigerated biscuits that take 12 minutes to bake after the oven is warmed up to 400 degrees.)

4. Make a diagram or list or show your calculations that helps you figure out how to time all of these creations.

5. So, what time do you think that I should get up and make my mother's day surprise?