PROUD PARTICIPANT OF:
OPERATION GRATITUDE
SERVICES ARE PROVIDED TO OUR TROOPS

Operation Gratitude is an organization that was begun in 2003. Volunteers collect, pack, and deliver collected candy, personal letters, and home made gifts to soldiers and first responders.

At this time of year individuals and businesses (especially dentists) collect donations of extra candy to create care packages to send to the people who serve us. They even offer money to the kids that donate their candy.

1. Is selling your Halloween candy back at a $1 per pound a good deal? Why or why not? Explain your reasoning. Convince me!

2. How long do you think you would have to trick or treat to earn $1? $5? How do you know?

3. Even if it isn't a great deal for you, how much candy do you think the average kids brings in for Halloween? Might there be a good reason to sell a pound of that candy?
